The Funds are actively managed by DJE and, where a benchmark index is indicated, without reference to it. The presented charts and tables concerning performance are based on our own calculations according to the gross performance (BVI) method² and illustrate past development. Past performance is not indicative for future returns. The BVI method takes into account all costs incurred at the fund level (e.g. management fees), the net performance and the issue fee. Additional individual costs may be incurred at the customer level (e.g. custodian fees, commission and other charges). Model calculation (net): an investor wishes to purchase shares for Euro 1,000. With a maximum issue surcharge of 0.00% , he has to spend a one-off amount of Euro 0.00 when making the purchase. In addition, there may be custodian costs that reduce performance. The custodian costs are decided by your bank's price list and service charges

Investment Approach

The fund takes advantage of the cyclical interplay between the asset classes bonds and equities. The focus is on international bonds, both corporate and government bonds, in various currencies. The fund also takes advantage of selected opportunities on the equity markets. This allows it to diversify when bonds are temporarily weak and to achieve a positive long-term performance. The allocation between equities, bonds and cash as well as the analysis of the equity and bond markets is based on the FMM method, the proven investment approach of DJE Kapital AG (for more information on the FMM method, please visit www.dje.de). The broad diversification across different asset classes forms the basis for a favourable risk/return ratio.

Monthly Commentary

The fund management extended the duration of the bonds over the course of the month in order to participate in the price increase on the bond side. The average remaining term of the bonds (including derivatives) was 3.67 years at the end of the month and was therefore slightly longer compared to the end of February (3.02 years). A German federal bond and a short US government bond were reduced in the fund's basic portfolio. Furthermore, profits were realized on a bond from the renewable energy sector. On the other hand, the travel sector was further expanded by strengthening the existing arrangement. Due to the positive equity sentiment, the equity quota has been increased. At the sector level, positions were built up in companies from the technology and pharmaceutical sectors. Utilities and travel stocks were also purchased. The weighting of logistics stocks has been reduced. At the end of March, the equity quota including derivatives was 29.46%, significantly higher compared to the previous month (22.34%). The US dollar exposure was not hedged. The DWS Concept DJE Alpha Renten Global was able to benefit from the positive market environment and achieved a monthly performance of 1.92%.
